

ARLO STONE

COMEDIAN-ACTIVIST

“My comedy philosophy is simple “says Arlo while doing something very appealing to people aged 18 – 45... “Forget about demographics. Just be yourself.”

“Comedy Chameleon” might be the best description for Arlo Stone, even if he is lacking a sticky, two-foot tongue.

This California native turned Oregonian (how original) started in Los Angeles with stand up performances on Comedy Central and MTV, along with writing jokes for both Bill Maher and Dennis Miller.

A 14 year veteran, Arlo has cemented his position as one of the most unique comedy minds in the Pacific Northwest with recent finals appearances in both the San Francisco and Seattle Comedy Competitions.

Just out with his 3rd CD, Arlo continues to display his amazing knack for delivering timely, thought provoking and wickedly funny comedy, consistently pulling the covers on the insanity of life in modern day America; “changing his colors” for clubs and corporations ranging in size from 10 to 10,000!!!!
